Hands-on 2 : Search Me

1) Initial Condition:

 $jQuery\ traversing$, which means "move through ", are used to "find" (or select) HTML element based on their relation to other element. Starts with one selection and move through that selection until you reach the elements you desire.

2) 1st Condition:

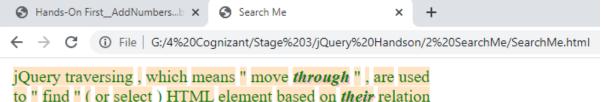

¡Query traversing, which means " move through ", are used to " find " (or select) HTML element based on their relation to other element. Starts with one selection and move through that selection until you reach the elements you desire.

3) 2nd Condition:

jQuery traversing, which means " move through ", are used to " find " (or select) HTML element based on their relation to other element. Starts with one selection and move through that selection until you reach the elements you desire.

4) Final:

to "find " (or select) HTML element based on their relation to other element. Starts with one selection and move through that selection until you reach the elements you desire.